

Gallbladder Surgery

Gallbladder surgery (cholecystectomy) is performed for gallstones, gallbladder disease without stones, abdominal pain, jaundice, and sometimes even pancreatitis. Over 90% of cholecystectomies (removal of the gallbladder) can be performed with the laparoscope. This is often an outpatient procedure resulting in no overnight hospital stay.